Sun Life's Competitive Advantages

HOT

- 1) SUN Fit and Well covers 114 critical illnesses, far more complete than the 10 critical illnesses covered by Company A's starter pack insurance.
- 2) Most critical illness insurance in the market, including Company A's critical illness coverage, expires when the client reaches age 75. SUN Fit and Well is the only health plan that can provide benefits in case the client is diagnosed with a covered critical illness even at a later age up to 100 years old.
- 3) SUN Fit and Well has savings component through the guaranteed endowment benefits<sup>1</sup>, dividends and special paid up bonus.

NOT

- 1) The value of the life insurance coverage of Sun Fit and Well decreases each time an eligible critical illness claim is paid. On the other hand, Company A's critical illness benefit is on top of the life insurance coverage and given as an additional benefit.
- 2) While SUN Fit and Well offers optional benefits through the Accidental Death Benefit (ADB) and Total Disability Benefit (TDB) riders, Company A can provide supplementary benefits that pose better propositions:
  - Coverage of Company A provides benefits for dismemberment which is not available in our ADB. Company A also provides ADB coverage up to age 75, while ours expires at age 70.
  - The disability coverage of Company A provides cash benefit and covers up to age 65 while our TDB is a waiver of premium only and expires at an earlier age of 60.
  - Company A provides as much as twice the benefit coverage if accident occurs while riding in a public transportation or if accident is due to natural disaster.
- 3) While SUN Fit and Well policyholders enjoy free GoWell membership, Company A's wellness program can provide an increase in plan coverage as a result of the insured's healthier lifestyle and conscious habits to improve health.
