CONSENT TO OBTAIN INFORMATION FROM CLIENT

I consent to Sun Life and its partner medical examiner conducting medical examination on me via video-conferencing tool. I understand that the process will involve two-way audio and video, patient video and still images, medical images, patient's medical records and other information pertinent to the examination. I agree not to record in video or audio format the online examination that will be performed.

I understand that I may be asked to provide my vital signs, medical history, laboratory tests, imaging results, lifestyle and other relevant medical information. I acknowledge that I may also be asked to show certain body parts as part of the examination. This is in view of the fact that the medical examiner will not be in the same room as I am and would not be able to conduct the necessary physical examination on me.

I recognize and accept the risks in using this technology, which may include, but not limited to technical difficulties, interruption, poor transmission on images which may lead to wrong conclusion in the examination, delays and deficiencies due to malfunction of electronic equipment and software, and unauthorized access leading to breach of data privacy and confidentiality. The examination is considered confidential but given the nature of technology, I understand that despite the reasonable measures employed, Sun Life and its partner medical examiner cannot guarantee absolute protection of my personal data from hacking. Therefore, I cannot hold Sun Life and its partner medical examiner accountable for any data that may be lost or breached despite reasonable measures in place.

With the above, I agree to Sun Life and its partner medical examiner processing my information. I certify that I have read, understood and agree with the declarations and authorizations above, including Sun Life's privacy policy found in <https://apps.sunlife.com.ph/privacy>

For Examiners

Inconvenience Fee

I. INCONVENIENCE FEE

1. For Advisors

The medical examiner may charge an "Inconvenience Fee/Charge" from the advisor for the following circumstances:

- A. Advisor did not provide the correct email address of the client in the application form.
- B. Client did not show up, or is absent during the scheduled date of examination.
- C. Client refused to be examined during the interview.
- D. Client is late more than 30 minutes from the scheduled examination time.
- E. Client/Advisor cancelled the schedule the night before (6 PM) or on the day of the examination or when Medical Examiner can no longer accept another schedule.
- F. Client has incomplete medical equipment (e.g. no BP apparatus, tape measure, weighing scale)
- G. Client/Advisor's equipment are not properly functioning during ROME.
- H. Advisor submitted ROME LOA E-form multiple times which caused double booking.
- I. Advisor/Client requested to change time of appointment the night before (6 PM) or on the day of the examination.
- J. Conducting examination on public places (e.g. restaurant, inside the car, café shop, computer shop, etc...)
- K. Other circumstances that may result in inconvenience to the examiner subject to investigation.

2. For Medical Examiners:

The advisor may charge an "Inconvenience Fee/Charge" from the medical examiner for the following circumstances: Note that payment should be directly charged by the advisor.

- A. The examiner is more than 10 minutes late for the scheduled appointment.
- B. The examiner cancelled the schedule the night before (6 PM) or on the day of the examination when advisor or client can no longer look for another examiner.
- C. Other circumstances which may result in inconvenience to the client/advisor subject to investigation
 - If advisor fails to settle the agreed Inconvenience Fee, the advisor must be reported to the Compliance Department and we will recommend deduction of the fee from the advisor's commission
 - Should the medical examiner fail to settle the Inconvenience Fee to the advisor, the amount will be automatically deducted from the examiner's payroll and a written notice will be issued at the first instance of the incident. Succeeding cases may result in suspension.
